

Team Building Days

What are Team Building Days?

HFHGBR Team Building Days are an opportunity for groups to have an enriched team-building experience while volunteering on a Habitat construction site. Team Building Days increase morale and allow groups to improve communication, leadership and problem-solving skills.

HFHGBR created the Team Building Days program in order to match the need for affordable housing with the demand for group volunteer opportunities. The program allows organizations to encourage teamwork among their employees, while building homes and hope in our community.

Why should my company participate in a Team Building Day?

Habitat Team Building Days are an excellent way to get out of the office for fresh air, exercise and to strengthen bonds with coworkers. Building with Habitat produces tangible and long-term results. Habitat homes provide stability to families and their communities. You will be able to drive past the house for years to come and say "We helped build it!"
